

Building from scratch with Blockout® Shutters has extra benefits.

Planning a new home has all sorts of added bonuses, including innovative architectural design, eco-friendly building materials and personalised interiors. Building your home from scratch also allows you to decide other important benefits such as security and insulation.

Incorporating custom made Blockout Shutters into your new building structure, provides four main extra benefits. Firstly, in-built pelmet installations streamlines their overall appearance. Secondly, the shutters provide maximum security with a combination rigid interlocking and dual locking system. Thirdly, insulation from extreme weather conditions all year round and finally, the shutters can be supplied in a colour that integrates with your choice of exterior colours.
