

Protect your home during bush fires with Blockout Shutters.

Blockout Shutters meet the Australian Standard AS3959-2009 for bush fire protection.

We have over thirty years experience designing a range of shutters that will blockout up to 90% heat, aid in preventing glass windows and doors from shattering and impede embers entering your home.

Blockout Shutters can be integrated as a part of your architectural design with concealed pelmets, or retro fitted onto your existing structure. A standard range of colours and a comprehensive range of anodised or powder coated finishes are available to complement your colour scheme.

If you are planning a new home or have a home in a bush fire area, contact us today.
